

Lifting the cross-ownership media ban will definitely not serve the public interest, but only that of mega media corporations. The result will be less news, more commercials and, therefore, a more ignorant public. Whose interest does that serve? We need to diversify media, not consolidate it.